She won the women's national championship this season, wresting the crown from Miss Beatrice Hoyt, who previously held the title.

ALEX LANDS FIRST IN PRELIMINARY DERBY.

Victory Due to Clawson's Good Jockeyship and Mitchell's Faulty Management.

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 16.—Frank Reagan's Alex, a colt whose record in the East this year was far from promising, today won the Preliminary Derby for two-year-olds, one of the most important fixtures offered by the Crescent City Jockey Club.

This victory was due to a combination of good and bad jockeyship, Clawson handling him in faultless style, while Prince of Verona in Mitchell's hands was woefully mismanaged.

With riders reversed Prince of Verona would have won easily. As it was, she was beaten out a very short head in the very last jump.

All things considered, the race was a very unsatisfactory one, and, while the victor was given a generous reception as he trotted back to the scales, all realized that it was not a case of the best horse winning.

Start a Good One.
The start for the race, which came at the very first asking, was a good one, but Boland, on Cleora, seemed to be looking for a recall, and the error cost him any chance of winning that his ally had.

When the field settled down to running Mitchell sent Prince of Verona out clean, with Alex next behind him, a gap of two lengths separating them. These positions were maintained until five furlongs; then came a final call from Clawson on Alex; the colt responded, and this upset Mitchell completely.

He turned the colt's head loose and he swerved over close to the outer rail, and as a result Alex headed him in the very last jump. Red Creek II. was third, six lengths back; in fact, the race was between the placed two the entire distance. The six furlongs were run in 1:14.

One of the incidents of the affair was the refusal of the stewards to permit Cunningham to ride Dissolute after an unsatisfactory finish; still there was an inclination to venge race.

Cunningham Ruled Off.
It is not often that officials are so exacting, but they were probably prompted by the belief that he was guilty, and the investigation which was held later brought a finding against the rider. He was ruled off the edit reading "Jockey I. Cunningham is ruled off the turf for his criminal ride on Virgo O."

Virgo O, the favorite for the opening race, led all the way and was first in the finish, still there was an inclination to quit in the last furlong that kept her from being a real winner. Koenig was then running up, beating Frank McConnell two lengths for the place.

Hintine won the second race. The bet, however, was a gift for him, but the finish told another tale, as he was all out, beating St. Wood a neck. Dolly Withers was third.

Go to 1 Chance Wins.
The third race left the bookmakers with clean sheets, Traveler, a 60 to 1 chance, capturing the purse. He was last away, working his way through his field in good style and won by five lengths. Lobengnia beat Matchbox, a 100 to 1 chance, a neck for the place.

Virgo O, the cause of Cunningham's exile, was fourth. She was third in the start, was crowded out of her position on the back turn, and finished as the field's runner in the backstretch. In the run home she improved her position steadily, even after a bad-looking turn for home. Cunningham claimed he had done his best, but his expenses failed to carry any weight. W. Donohue, the trainer of the mare, claimed the jockey had disobeyed instructions.

Walskenshaw, the favorite for the closing, was just but one to the finish, La Grange winning easily.

Jockey Landry is suspended until January 1 for unduly punishing Aratim in his runaway in the first race yesterday. Donohue, Slick and Michael were suspended for two days each for breaking through the barrier.
